MARCH, 1977

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear friends:

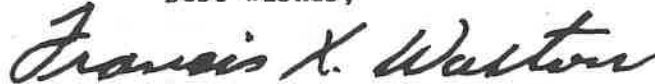

At its February meeting, the Executive Committee worked very hard to develop the agenda and mechanics for the Special Meeting of the Delegate Assembly to be held in Chicago the weekend of March 18-20, 1977.

The Special Meeting will provide an opportunity for ASAP to benefit from greatly increased involvement by delegates. The work of the delegates will be directed towards conjuring up new methods and revitalizing old methods that ASAP can use to increase its impact on society. The work will also be directed towards improving the efficiency and effectiveness of the D.A., which has increased from 12 to 30 members during the past three years.

Each member of ASAP may participate in the Special Meeting indirectly by communicating with his or her regional delegates or by sending a position paper of not more than one thousand words to our Executive Secretary, Neva Hefner, at least one week prior to the meeting. Further information with regard to the Special Meeting is provided elsewhere in the Newsletter.

The number of new members accepted in ASAP for 1977 is already approaching the total number we typically accept during the course of a year. Perhaps all of us can keep the growth of the Society in mind. Improved services to members will be directly related to our growth. Please let the delegates have your ideas with regard to improving services to members in local organizations.

Best wishes,

Francis X. Walton, President

OF GENERAL INTEREST

IN MEMORIAM -- Danica Deutsch (1890-1976)

The funeral for Danica Deutsch, Executive Director Emeritus of the Alfred Adler Mental Hygiene Clinic and Charter Member of ASAP, was held December 26, 1976. She died peacefully in her sleep on December 24.

At age 86, she had spent more than 58 years as a devoted pioneer of the cause of Individual Psychology which she had learned as a student and associate of the famous Viennese physician Alfred Adler. Her devotion to this cause led her to found the Clinic which bears his name.

Born in 1890 in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia (then part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire), Danica Bruckner grew up in a community of cultural diversity which included Moslems, Jews, Catholics, Protestants and Greek Orthodox. Although she was the daughter of Jewish parents, Danica attended a Catholic convent school to train to become a teacher. There was no other school in the area that would accept girls at that time. In 1909, she went to a special school in Vienna to study to become a language teacher. After spending some time teaching language in Sarajevo, she studied French and psychology at the University of Geneva.

Returning to Vienna as a teacher, Danica Bruckner met Alfred Adler and became a member of the group of people who met regularly at his home. As a result of these meetings, she decided to devote her time to psychology. Soon, she began to work with Adler in the child guidance clinics which he started in the schools of Vienna. This work instilled in her a profound concern for children and their families which was always apparent in her work at the Alfred Adler Mental Hygiene Clinic in New York.

While working in Vienna, Danica met a young pianist, Leonhard Deutsch, who was a student of Freud. "In the course of animated discussions about Freud," Danica once wrote, "Leonhard Deutsch and I became engaged." They were married in 1912 and both became ardent followers of Adler's teachings.

To escape Hitler's occupation of Austria in 1938, Mrs. Deutsch and her family left Austria to take up residence in New York. While Leonhard taught and applied Adlerian psychology to music, Danica began work as a nursery school counselor. With the help of Alexandra Adler, M.D., she founded the Alfred Adler Consultation Center in 1948. In 1952, the Center became licensed as the Alfred Adler Mental Hygiene Clinic with Mrs. Deutsch as Executive Director and Alexandra Adler as Medical Director. In 1973, she retired to become Executive Director Emeritus, but she continued to teach at the Alfred Adler Institute and do psychotherapy until June, 1976.

As a licensed psychologist, Mrs. Deutsch achieved international status in her field. As a lecturer at the Alfred Adler Institute, she was one of the favorite teachers. As a humanitarian, she never missed an opportunity to use her knowledge and professional skill to help those in need. As a writer, she published the first Individual Psychology Newsletter, the Mitteilungsblatt für Individualpsychologische Veranstaltungen; co-edited with Kurt A. Adler, M.D., the volume Essays in Individual Psychology: Contemporary Application of Alfred Adler's Theories (Grove Press, 1959) and wrote many articles for the Journal of Individual Psychology.

SPECIAL MEETING OF DELEGATE ASSEMBLY

A Special Meeting of the Delegate Assembly has been called for the weekend of March 18-20, 1977, at Chicago, Illinois. This meeting will provide an opportunity for ASAP to benefit from greatly increased involvement by delegates. The work of the delegates will be directed towards developing new methods and revitalizing old methods that ASAP can use to increase its impact on society. The work will also be directed towards improving the efficiency and effectiveness of the D.A.

In order to accomplish our objectives, the Executive Committee has suggested that the D.A. divide into the following task groups for the Special Meeting:

1. Administration -- to look at the structure and function of governing body, officers, and central office; committee structure; semi-annual meeting.
2. Advocacy -- to develop issues on which society should take a stand; develop mechanism for action and ways of implementing within local groups; consider priorities for action.
3. By-Laws -- to review the constitution to find ambiguous areas that need clarification; to review Article VII and consider establishing standing committees; to incorporate any changes suggested by Task Groups and review completed document to be sure intent is clear.
4. Convention/Workshop -- to develop a manual of standard operating procedures, reworking existing guidelines; to develop a guideline manual for workshops; to consider format of convention and various aspects of convention planning; to pinpoint areas where program development should be expanded.
5. Elections -- to examine the procedures for electing Delegate Assembly members and for electing officers of the Society.
6. Expansion and Regional Development, Affiliations -- to review affiliation requirements; to review the portion of the By-laws referring to regions and to suggest ways of organizing regions to meet those purposes; to explore sources of increased revenues, to discuss membership drive and promotion; to discuss how the Society can be useful to all of its sub-groups.

7. Training (includes Ethics, Consumer Education and Professional Standards) -- to specify the purposes and activities which would assist the Society in fulfilling the purpose concerning training as stated in the By-laws; to consider training in independent institutes and societies; to consider training centers in institutions of higher education; to consider ethics in practice and training; to consider standards for various levels of expertise.

As President Walton indicated in his letter, each member of ASAP is invited to participate in this Special Meeting indirectly. This may be done by contacting your regional delegates with your opinions or by writing a position paper of not more than 1,000 words and sending it to the central office at least one week prior to the meeting. Remember that the central office is now located at 159 North Dearborn, Chicago 60601.

ACRONYM REACTION

John J. Bradwell received a response to his letter about adopting an acronym for use with study groups, which he would like to share with the Society for further reaction. The letter is from Shirley Gould, Chicago--

I like the idea of an acronym for the Dreikurs system, but "Hope" is overused. There was the Hope ship and around here there's an organization devoted to the City of Hope, a medical facility in Duarte, California. Besides, we offer much more than hope.

ACT is great, but the slogan is a little cumbersome. The slogan should encompass the idea of "ACT, don't just talk." Adlerian principles make it possible for parents to live with children in such a way as to minimize problems. I'd rather call attention to the continuous patterns of living in harmony than to the behavioral problems. To act is also a good remedy for emotional distress such as depression.

The slogan should be short, snappy, and accurate. You've made a fine start.

John has indicated that he would still like to have reactions to his suggestions and any ideas for acronyms would be most welcome. You may send your comments to the central office at 159 N. Dearborn, Chicago 60601, or send them to John J. Bradwell, M.S., 564 Alder Street, Maxwell AFB, Alabama 36113.

GROWTH COMMITTEE CAMPAIGN

The "Blitz" campaign officially ended December 31, 1976. As a result of this campaign, we have received 154 new applications to date. The paid membership in 1976 totaled 800. Of that number, 656 members have renewed their membership for 1977, which gives us a total of 810 members plus 23 Life Members. Even though the "blitz" campaign is officially over, the Growth campaign continues and new membership applications will be accepted at any time. A membership application is attached to this newsletter for your use!

APGA BOOTH

The Texas Society of Adlerian Psychology has agreed to design and man an information booth at the APGA Convention in Dallas, Texas, March 6-9, 1977, on behalf of ASAP. Any members planning to attend APGA Convention should stop by not only to give encouragement but also to donate some time to tell passers-by about the Society and Individual Psychology.

P.R. (People Reaching) Ideas
SUGGESTIONS FOR SPEECH-MAKING

We have discovered in the Northern Virginia area that the way to make Children: The Challenge discussion groups is to make lots of speeches. When you develop a thought-provoking and entertaining speech you will find that you become very popular, especially if you speak at no charge.

1. Choose an interesting title, like "Understanding Why Children Misbehave", or "Winning With Children", etc.
2. Get the audience involved. Don't just talk AT them. Ask them what kind of flying lessons they want their children to have before they leave the nest at age 18 or 21, etc. Then ask what they--parents--have been doing to provide these lessons. (Don't expect them to answer that one--it puts them on the spot too much.)
3. Explain a little bit about Children: The Challenge. Talk about the child's desire to find his place through family constellation and mistaken goals. Bring out the idea that all behavior has a purpose. Don't get too complicated. Keep it simple.
4. Point out the fallacies of punishment: We infringe on our child's rights to show that infringing on other's rights is wrong. We demonstrate power over the child but then do not expect him to use it on us. We want a child to MIND and prevent him from developing a MIND OF HIS OWN.
5. Give the audience something to really think about. Ask, "How many of us have children who forget (be sure to raise your own hand)? How many of us remind those children (raise your hand)? Now, think back, how did you learn to remember as a child?" Bring out in discussion that Lessons are Learned--not Lectured. Parents can decide when they will permit their children to learn how to remember by beginning to forget. Point out that the problems only get bigger as the child grows. Will he forget his lunch now or his job resume on his first interview? You can also do this with paper routes, homework, etc.

6. Answer a few questions--cautioning that you can only give general principles without investigating each specific situation.
7. Leave a brochure or other material indicating how, when and where to sign up for a Children: The Challenge class. If the group really shows interest in starting a group, try to get one volunteer who will take names and help get things started. Choose a night and starting date; in other words, get a commitment before you walk out the door.

NEWSNOTES

REGION I--FAR WEST

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Vancouver--BCAAP is sponsoring an advanced experiential workshop for counsellors, social workers and psychologists on March 5 and 6 at the UBC Health Sciences Building. The instructor will be Richard Royal Kopp and his topic is Understanding and Influencing Youth's Behavior through Holistic Interviewing. The fee is $30 and registration should be sent to Charlie Powell, 17111 80th Ave., Surrey, B.C.

Interviewing Techniques will be taught March 19 and 20 by Howard S. Pollack and on May 7 and 8 by Harold H. Mosak. This course will also be held in the UBC Health Sciences Building and will cost $80.00. Registration information may be obtained through Donna Pretty, 5445 Marine Drive, West Vancouver, B.C.

Vancouver will be the site of the 1977 World Congress on Mental Health on August 21-26, 1977. The theme is "Today's Priorities in Mental Health: Knowing & Doing" with the focus being Health by the People, Right Here, Right Now. Many of the plenary session participants will be individuals of international renown. There will be an academic debate on August 24 that should prove to be an interesting and thought-provoking debate: Be it Resolved: There is no Need for Mental Health Professionals, with Dr. Ivan Illich of Mexico on the affirmative and Dr. Morris Carstairs of England on the negative side. For further information, write to World Federation for Mental Health 1977 Congress, 2255 Wesbrook Crescent, The University of British Columbia, Vancouver, B.C. V6T 1W5.

CALIFORNIA

San Rafael--Sophia de Vries will be demonstrating Adlerian techniques for interviewing children at Catholic Social Service of Marin on March 18, April 15, and May 20. She recently completed a series of seminars on the theory and practice of Individual Psychology for the staff of the agency.

Anthony Bruck will be concluding a series of lectures on Alfred Adler's Individual Psychology at Catholic Social Service of Marin March 8 and 22. Topics in the series, which began January 25, included "Visibilized Adlerian Psychology", "The Tools of Adlerian Psychology", "Teachings of Alfred Adler", "Children's Motivation", and "Working With Adults". Both Sophia de Vries and Anthony Bruck were students of Alfred Adler.

Mill Valley--Henry Stein will be concluding a series of Parent and Teacher Education Workshops at the Children's Cultural Center of Marin March 1, 15, April 19, May 3 and 17.

Newsnotes, Region I, California cont'd

Woodland Hills--Loren Grey and his family left on January 3 for New Zealand and Australia, where they will be enjoying an extended visit. Dr. Grey will be a visiting professor of psychology at Massey University in Palmerston North, New Zealand. The main emphasis of his teaching will be on the Adlerian concepts of psychotherapy and family counseling. The Greys will return in late August of this year, after visiting several of the South Pacific Islands on the way home.

HAWAII

Honolulu--The Family Education Centers of Hawaii have come up with a neat idea for a booklet--"Family Fun on Oahu"--a 50 page, generously illustrated booklet on places to go and things to do as a family. The booklet was described in Region I's "The Relay" with the suggestion that every Dreikursian center should compile such a book--"In the study group unit on 'Having Fun Together' each participant might be assigned the pleasant task of bringing back a paper on 'What our family has done for fun' and with some editing, compile a local booklet."

IDAHO

Pocatello--The initial conference of the Idaho Society of Individual Psychology will be held March 25 and 26, 1977 in Burley, Idaho at the Conference Center of the Ponderosa Inn. At this conference the By-laws for the ISIP will be presented for possible adoption. Tom Edgar will be the keynote speaker at the evening banquet and Manford Sonstegard will present demonstrations of life style assessment and motivation modification with children. Contact: Tom Edgar, P.O. Box 8225, Idaho State University, Pocatello, Idaho 83209.

OREGON

Eugene--The Spring Conference of the Oregon Society of Individual Psychology will be held at the Valley River Inn, Eugene on April 29 and 30. Eva Dreikurs Ferguson will conduct the Saturday morning sessions and John Taylor will be the luncheon speaker. Additional information will be available next month, or you may contact OSIP, 1320 N.W. 13th Street, Corvallis, Oregon 97330.

Adaline Starr will present a Psychodrama Workshop on March 5 and 6 at the University of Oregon campus, Eugene. The theme is "Resolving Interpersonal Conflict Through Psychodrama: The Theory and the Method". A descriptive brochure and workshop schedule are available through DeBusk Memorial Center (503/686-3418), DDS, College of Education, University of Oregon 97403. Pre-registration is required.

WASHINGTON

Mountlake Terrace--The annual meeting and workshop of the Puget Sound Adlerian Society will be held April 16. Details will be available next month, or you may contact PSAS, 4404 - 242nd S.W., Mountlake Terrace, WA 98043.

REGION II--MIDWEST

ILLINOIS

Chicago--On February 19 the AAI of Chicago moved to its new home at 159 North Dearborn, Chicago 60601. The phone number remains the same--312/346-3458. After some weeks of "settling in" and subsequent to the arrival of some new and desperately needed furnishing, plans will be finalized for a dedication, graduation and open house. The welcome mat will be out at the end of May for ASAP out-of-town conventioners.

Newsnotes, Region II, Chicago cont'd

The Spring AAI Newsletter will be in the mail on February 25. Please note the listing of Spring and Summer weekend courses and workshops. The Summer courses have been chosen to benefit especially those students who are working towards a degree or certificate by taking some classes locally and some at the Institute. If you live out of town and wish to take a course during the Summer which is not scheduled at this time, please let them know immediately. If a sufficient number of students request it, it can be added to the schedule. Write or phone for full details on the entire Spring and Summer Schedule.

PURPOSE OF THE SOCIETY

The purpose of the American Society of Adlerian Psychology shall be to promote the knowledge, training, and teaching of Individual Psychology, defined as the psychological theory and practice created and so named by Alfred Adler; to strengthen the activities, efficiency, and development of individuals and groups in Individual Psychology; to encourage research and to stimulate the further scientific development of Individual Psychology; to establish training centers and institutes of Individual Psychology; to extend the availability of psycho-therapeutic services; to publish journals, books, and pamphlets on Individual Psychology; to maintain contact with other groups, associations, and schools of thought in the field of psychology, education, etc.; to encourage and assist local or regional groups to organize and affiliate with the society.

This Society is organized and will be operating for exclusively educational and scientific purposes and will include the enlistment and involvement of all people who support the philosophy and principles of Individual Psychology.
