PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear fellow members:

The newly elected members of the Delegate Assembly are as follows:

Region I
E. Clair Hawes
Gregson Parker

Region II
Georgia Bichekas
Bernard Shulman

Region III
Charles Huber
Welborn Willingham

Region IV
Joseph Dittmer
Michael Yura

Region V
Kurt Adler
Liliane Bensinger

I wish to extend congratulations and a welcome to the D.A.

I would like to recognize the contributions of several members of the D.A., who presently have completed their term of office. A sincere thank you to Carol Arnold (III), Richard Betts (IV), Dorothy Cruikshank (I), John Nield (II), Miriam Pew (II) and Robert Sherman (V).

I'd like to thank John Symynkywicz, who is leaving the D.A. after serving two terms. He served as chairperson of the Development Committee, chaired the Ad Hoc Committee for the 80's, which was the catalyst for many of the organizational changes being executed by the D.A., and served on the Executive Committee.

I'd also like to thank Edith Dewey, who is leaving the D.A. after completing two terms and chairing the Convention/Workshop

Committee. As Chair of this committee, Edith has been diligent in finding host groups, providing the follow-up to the local groups, supervising the updating of the Convention Manual.

Finally, I'd like to recognize the contributions of all the D.A. members, made both in the form of their time throughout the year and the financial expenses to attend the meetings.

The 31st Annual Convention, focusing on "Enriching the Community," is fast approaching (May 26-31). The committee has worked to have a wide range of programs and workshops. The location for the convention is beautiful and the facility will allow participants a chance to combine professional development with fun and relaxation. With all this in mind, I hope many members will make the decision to travel to Boulder. If you don't plan to come, please reconsider. We hope to have a great turnout of new and old members. It's our one opportunity per year to have everyone together.

The D.A. meeting will be held Thursday and Friday at Boulder. We invite your comments and suggestions for this meeting as we conduct the business of the society.

The $50,000 Challenge Grant provided by the Estate of Seymour E. Clonick has received donations of $10,386.70 from 167 persons. We have passed one-fifth of our goal.

With Warmest Regards,

Kathleen A. Walton
President

Giving Credit Where Credit is Due

Cincinnati, Ohio
April 4, 1983

Over the last month I have become increasingly aware of published columns in which child rearing techniques are taken directly from the work of Rudolf Dreikurs, M.D., noted author and child psychiatrist. These ideas on the goals of children's misbehavior and democratic versus authoritarian child rearing techniques are taken directly from his book, Children: The Challenge, published in 1964.

This theory and technique of child rearing has also been published in numerous Adlerian Journals and has been the subject of other books and manuals on child rearing techniques, most notably The Systematic Training for Effective Parenting program authored by Don Dinkmeyer, Ph.D.

Are the authors of these columns and the editors of these publications aware of the source of this material? Why haven't the proper Adlerian authors been given credit for their work? As a psychologist engaged in private practice with many parents and children who need these techniques and methods, I am quite happy to see them published in nationally syndicated columns. However, it distresses me greatly to see the work of my teachers in public print without any credit, reference or acknowledgment given to them. Moreover, I believe that by not noting references to the public they are proving a disservice. It is important for the people to know where the principles and the methods in these articles can be learned. For example, there are many family education centers throughout the cities of North America where these techniques are actively being taught to parents and families, and where readers interested in pursuing the ideas in those columns can go for further information, study and practice.

I would like to see these types of columns continued. I only ask that in the future appropriate credit and appropriate information to the readers be given so that they can follow up, in their own lives, on the very pertinent information in these columns.

Memorial Book

San Francisco, California
April, 1983

I am writing a little memorial book about Maria Sadilek, presently called "Messages to Maria," sharing what I have learned with her and from her, remembering the joy she brought to the world. I invite all those who knew her and loved her to write their experiences of her in anecdotal form (preferably in the first person, present tense, as if the experience were happening now), typewritten or clearly legible, and send it to me at 1040 Masonic Avenue, #2, San Francisco, CA 94117. You can call me at 415/552-8162 if you want to talk with me about it. I appreciate your passing this word on to anyone else who might miss this notice.

New Journal Feature:
"Adlerian Ideas That Work"

Editor Jon Carlson announces that Adlerians now have an opportunity to share their skills with the readers of Individual Psychology: The Journal of Adlerian Theory, Research and Practice. The editorial staff believes that practitioners have used Individual Psychology ideas with great success in many different settings: the schools, counseling, therapy, industry, and other fields. Yet writing a formal article can be an intimidating, time-consuming process, particularly when one has never published before. Now Adlerians can share their experiences and techniques in a shorter, more informal format.

"Ideas That Work" will be a feature of the Journal. Contributions should be four double-spaced, typewritten pages, or less, and include: (1) the setting; (2) the problem or challenge; (3) the skills used; (4) the resolution of the problem. Special editorial assistance and consideration will be given to these contributions to the Journal. Send items to: Don Dinkmeyer, Jr., Associate Editor, 4010 N.W. 99 Ave., Coral Springs, FL 33065.

Vermont Summer Session

The 12th Adlerian Workshop is scheduled for June 27-July 2, 1983, at the University of Vermont Summer Session, Burlington, with the theme of Techniques of Psychological Diagnosis and Treatment.

Early recollections and various tactics of psychotherapy will be discussed and demonstrated on the first two days by Harold H. Mosak. Various techniques of roleplaying will be discussed and demonstrated on the next two days by Miriam L. Pew. The use of language and metaphor cues in psychotherapy to distinguish life-style processes and differentiate between nonconscious and professed intentions will be discussed on the last two days by Richard Royal Kopp. Integrative lectures on Adlerian theory will be given each day by Heinz L. Ansbacher.

Information on fees may be found on page 3 of this newsletter. For further course information, call 802/864-4221.

Sino-American Study Tour

Ray Lowe, Eugene, Oregon, is conducting an educational-tour-program to the People's Republic of China for psychologists and counselors June 11-24, 1983. Continuing education credits will be given for the program, which will center on exchanging thoughts and practices in the areas of generic counseling and psychotherapy, family counseling, school counseling, family violence and child abuse.

The cost is $1,989 per person from San Francisco. For further information, contact: Professional Seminar Consultants, Inc., 516/536-7292.

ILLINOIS

Chicago--Renee Dobkin Dushman and Charlene Kesselman have recently formed a Psychodrama group. Both Ms. Dushman and Ms. Kesselman received their training in this field at the AAI of Chicago and are enthusiastic about bringing this Adlerian based action-oriented modality to the Chicago area in a private setting. The ongoing group meets three times a month. Contact: 312/675-8085.

AAI of Chicago--Sydney M. Roth was the special guest of the Institute at a luncheon at the Mid-America Club in Chicago, which launched the campaign to match the $50,000 gift from the Estate of Seymour E. Clonick.

The National Association for the Advancement of Psychoanalysis, an accrediting association of training institutes representing many different schools of thought, has reaccredited the Institute.

Planning for a doctoral program, to be offered cooperatively with another doctoral degree-granting institution continues with formal application to the State Education Office scheduled for June 1, 1983.

INDIANA

Fort Wayne--Pancner Psychiatric Services has a new alcohol/substance abuse treatment program at the Lutheran Hospital in Fort Wayne, called "The Alternative." It consists of three phases: Evaluation, Primary Treatment and Aftercare. Services are also provided to the family of the hospitalized patient which focuses on the nature of the disease and the impact on the total family. Pancner Psychiatric Services is located at 2805 Fairfield Avenue, Fort Wayne, IN 46807.
