New constitution approved

I would like to report the results of the revised Constitution ballot mailed to you recently: 1,125 ballots were mailed to the membership body; 385 ballots were returned; 376 ballots favored the Constitution revision; 9 ballots did not favor it. This strong support was encouraging to the Delegate Assembly (D.A.) members when it was reported at the opening of our recent D.A. meeting in Chicago in November. The D.A. completed changes in the By-Laws necessary to implement the revised Constitution.

Region I divides

The motion to divide Region I was approved as follows:

Region I - Northwest	Region VI - Far West
Alaska	Arizona
Alberta	California
British Columbia	Colorado
Idaho	Hawaii
Montana	Nevada
Oregon	New Mexico
Saskatchewan	Utah
Washington
Wyoming

Regions II, III, IV and V will remain the same.

Delegate Assembly actions

As a result of the recent changes all committees had as an agenda item to review their goals and make recommendations to the D.A. Consequently, the Development Committee and Public Relations Committee have been combined due to their frequent overlap. A separate Membership Committee has been established.

The Publications Committee presented their proposed Guidelines for Journals, and they were unanimously approved.

The Education Committee reports the Adlerian Research Bureau is continuing to store and retrieve. They are also planning to solicit host groups for the Alfred Adler Memorial Workshop Series.

The Convention-Workshop Committee reviewed the Toronto Convention report. The report indicates a great deal of planning and enthusiasm at work in Toronto. The Atlanta host group informs us the Omni Hotel has been selected for their 1985 site. The Convention-Workshop Committee strongly recommended to the Executive Committee (E.C.) that they decide to hire a professional convention coordinator to organize future conventions. This co-ordinator would work with local host groups. The E.C. will review proposals to this effect at their January meeting.

Balla passes baton to Bettner

Fund Raising Chair, Marion Balla, reported $14,696.70 had been donated by 108 contributors towards the $50,000 Challenge Grant from the Seymour E. Clonick Estate.

Congratulations to Marion for her enthusiasm and energetic leadership. She has passed the leadership to the capable hands of Betty Lou Bettner. Sincere thanks to this Committee for their creativity and hard work. Good luck in meeting the challenge.

D.A. agrees to repeat fall meeting

At the conclusion of the November meeting in Chicago, the D.A. discussed the impact of meeting apart from a Semi-Annual Meeting. The reaction was positive. The D.A. recommended the same type of meeting and same location for the 1984 fall meeting. We were delighted to have the opportunity to meet at the Alfred Adler Institute of Chicago, and express our sincere thanks to the Institute.

Warm wishes for a wonderful new year,

Kathleen A. Walton

New volumes of Adler's papers published

Three volumes of the selected papers by Alfred Adler, covering the years 1919-1929, 1930-1932 and 1933-1937, have recently been published in German, the last one completed in the autumn of 1983. The volumes are edited by Heinz L. Ansbacher and Robert F. Antoch, and are entitled, Psychotherapie und Erziehung. These volumes are a continuation of Heilen und Bilden and Praxis und Theorie der Individualpsychologie, which consist of Adler's selected papers of the years 1904-1913 and 1909-1920, respectively. The new volumes complete a series of nineteen, through which practically all of Adler's writings have now become available in German.

Commenting on the significance of these new German publications editor, Heinz Ansbacher, writes: "The series is just one reflection of the progress of Individual Psychology in the German-speaking countries, [where] the German Society now [has] 1600 members."

Adlerian edits new psychological encyclopedia

Raymond J. Corsini announces that he is editor of the forthcoming Encyclopedia of Psychology to be published in March, 1983 by John Wiley and Sons, Inc. of Chicago. The encyclopedia will include four volumes and 2 million words. Among the contributing authors are ten Adlerians.

Dr. Corsini is in a position to offer a substantial discounted rate to his Adlerian colleagues interested in purchasing the encyclopedia. This special reduced rate is made possible through a combined early publication and editor discount; the discount is therefore limited and carries some restrictions.

Persons interested in learning more details or in purchasing the encyclopedia are advised to contact: R.J. Corsini, 140 Niuiki Circle, Honolulu, HI 96821, 808/373-1839 OR The NASAP Central Office, 159 N. Dearborn, Chicago, IL 60601, 312/346-3458.

NEWS UPDATE: Author, Manes Sperber, an early student and protege of Adler, was reported in the September-October, 1983 issue of the Newsletter as having been awarded the 1983 Peace Prize of the German Trade Association. At the time of the October 17, 1983 35th International Frankfurt Book Fair, where the award presentation was made, Sperber(77) was unable to travel from his Paris home due to a heart condition. A fellow German emigre and publisher, Alfred Grosser, represented Sperber and read his acceptance speech, where Sperber urged Europe to unite as an "exemplary power of peace."

Note from the Editors: Portions of this Publications News Update were excerpted from "This Week in Germany," 10/21/83, published by the German Information Center, New York, NY. The editors thank Heinz L. Ansbacher for calling this news to the attention of Newsletter readers.

... and on the tube

Adlerians visiting West Germany this coming Spring will need only to switch on the television to feel right at home. Lucy K. Ackerknecht will represent Individual Psychology in a 13-part television documentary on the comparative schools of Psychotherapy. Dr. Ackerknecht will not be the only familiar face. A German television crew traveled to the Alfred Adler Institute of New York to interview Alexandra and Kurt Adler. Heinz and Rowena Ansbacher also participated in the filming.

Dr. Ackerknecht reports that her segment will last twenty minutes, although it was drawn from a full four hours of filming sessions at the Rehabitational Clinic of the University of Cologne. Her sessions involved both individual and family counseling.

This T.V. series was sponsored in part by the University of Würzburg, the West German Government and various television and radio enterprises.

Good news for Adlerians not traveling to West Germany: the T.V. segments will be available on video cassettes to the media and universities. A theoretical text also accompanies the T.V. series. Contact: Lucy Ackerknecht, WIRTH, 226 Stanford Ave., Berkeley, CA 94708.

Richard Martin Lyon, a partner in the legal firm, Seyfarth, Shaw, Fairweather and Geraldson, has been elected to the AAIC Board of Directors.

Eugene McClory is completing 12 years as President of AAIC, and has asked the Board not to renew his term. In the AAIC Newsletter he says: "My decision to leave was not easily reached since so many of you have become so much a part of my life. You have responded generously and supportively on countless occasions. I send my gratitude and very best wishes with a word of thanks to Harold Mcsak and other Board members whose interest, support and encouragement have made a difficult job much easier."

Chicago--The first Midwest Psychodrama Training Institute and Conference had a successful meeting in November, 1983, where Adlerian, Renee Dushman, presented a paper, "Psychodrama and Early Recollections." Following demonstrations of Adlerian techniques, Ms. Dushman reports, the largely non-Adlerian participants acknowledged their lack of familiarity with Adler, and expressed enthusiasm in learning more.

REGION III - SOUTH

FLORIDA

Daytona Beach was the site of a November 17th Kick-Off Rally at the Florida Personnel and Guidance Association (FPGA). Such does not seem very Adlerian, but in fact the event was. The School of Individual Education (SIE) band, "Fuse Box," made up of young Adlerian 3rd through 7th graders performed before an enthusiastic crowd of 700 counselors from around the state. Rah!! NORTH CAROLINA

REGION V - NORTHEAST

NEW YORK

Bronx--Harold M. Chapnick, Superintendent of Community School District Nine in New York City, has announced that Elementary School No. 53 in the east Bronx will become a School of Individual Education (SIE). This is the first SIE in New York City. Other U.S. cities have already adopted the IE system in select public schools.

INTERNATIONAL

ISRAEL

Eliezer Shnueli, Director General of the State of Israel's Ministry of Education and Culture, reports that plans are being made to adopt the Individual Education (IE) system within the State of Israel. Mr. Shnueli states that the decision was made on the basis of IE's "democratic egalitarian philosophy," and that IE is "a system of education that motivates children... challenges teachers and pleases parents."

The Ministry of Education and Culture first learned of IE through a Tel Aviv school principal, who became aware of IE from a special issue of Individual Psychology.

Mr. Shnueli adds that he has brought IE to the attention of officials in the U.S. Department of Education who "showed great interest."

SPECIAL INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Word has been received that the Individual Psychology Newsletter (IPNL), an organ of the International Association of Individual Psychology (IAIP), will again be published under the new editor, Horst Gröner. Editor Gröner reports that there will be two IPNL issues published in 1984, March and September. Interested persons may receive these two 1984 issues free of charge. Regular subscriptions will begin in 1985.
