PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Presidency: Not a Thankless Job

In unprepared remarks at the luncheon at the Annual Meeting in Atlanta, Georgia (May 24-27), I found myself saying that being "president is not a thankless job. You get a lot of thanks." You get a lot of thanks and thanks are not necessary; the position and duties are sufficiently gratifying.

Thanks to Delegates -- Past and Present

However thanks are due and necessary to those who served on the Board and Delegate Assembly (D.A.) in the past, and those serving on the D.A. today. We tried with the reunion of former Board and D.A. members at the Atlanta meeting to say thanks and show our appreciation.

More Thanks: Atlanta Adlerian Society

Many thanks are due and necessary to those who ran our Annual Meeting. All of the Atlanta Adlerian Society were given a big hand at the Banquet. Another round is due them from around the continent for their efficiency, organization and hospitality.

A Preview of Thanks to St. Louis Adlerians

A preview of thanks to come should go to the Midwest Society of Individual Psychology. With straw hats and striped jackets, they introduced an excellent slide show convincing everyone that next year in St. Louis is going to be a real treat.

Meeting the Challenge: A Big Hand to All of Us

The biggest hand at the banquet went to us. We met the Challenge of $50,000, and can close the accounts on the Challenge grant. (Challenge Grant made possible through the Seymour E. Clonick Estate.) Our computer will be the first sign that, "We have made it!" A decreased deficit in our operating budget will be the second.

Reaching our Challenge Grant goal was a real feat. No matching funds come with donations to associations. We raised the full $50,000 through good management and big hearts. We raised it ourselves. We owed ourselves a big round of applause, and unashamedly, we gave it.

Yours truly,

Guy J. Manaster President

Street named after Rudolf Dreikurs

In the small West German town of Sinntal (Züntersbach) there is now a street named after Rudolf Dreikurs—Rudolf Dreikurs Weg. It is the very same street where the Rudolf Dreikurs Institut is located. The Institute is run by Theo and Toni Schoenaker, and in sharing this news, Heinz Ansbacher notes that undoubtedly the naming of the road can be credited to the Schoenakers.

SOUTH CAROLINA SALUTES ATLANTA

The Convention in Atlanta was well received by those in attendance from South Carolina. It generated many favorable comments and stimulated enthusiasm for further involvement with Adlerian Psychology by attendees. Many thanks to Gaye Schneider and Other Atlantans who worked to make the Convention so productive.

——Frank Walton

NASAP ADDS ITS CONGRATULATIONS

to the Atlanta Adlerian Society for a well organized and smoothly executed Convention. Once again NASAP is indebted to a group of people who were willing to give of their time, talent and energy so that we might gather together to add to our knowledge and enjoy fellowship with others of similar interest. A special word of appreciation to:

Coordinator - Gaye Schneider

REGIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

REGION III - SOUTH

The Ninth Annual Region 3 Conference will be held February 27, 28, March 1, 2, 1986 in Orlando, Florida at the Hilton Inn Florida Center. The Conference Coordinator has issued a call for Papers.

The conference will feature programs on Saturday of 14 hours in length and workshops on Thursday, Friday and Sunday of full-day and half-day lengths. Workshops are being sought at both introductory and advanced levels. Workshops and programs should have an Adlerian basis and pragmatically demonstrate the ideas and concepts presented.

Proposals should contain: (1) Name, title, and Institution, mailing address and telephone of presenter; (2) Names of co-presenters; (3) Workshop/Program title, and (4) Workshops—a detailed time scheduled outline; Programs—a 50 word description. Any additional information may be included. An honorarium will be awarded to workshop presenters.

Deadline: October 15, 1985

REGION VI - FAR WEST

Ten persons were present for the Region VI--Far West meeting during the NASAP Convention in Atlanta in May. Betty Jane Overholt, who served as President this past year, was unable to attend. Steve Maybell from San Diego was elected as new President. Birgit LaMothe will continue as Treasurer.

A Treasurer's report was given. It was agreed that regional news should be sent to the NASAP Newsletter rather than have a regional newsletter.

Talent Network

The members present decided to create a talent network by starting a Regional Directory of names and talents (skills). Anyone who wishes to be listed may send the information along with payment of $5 for 1985-86 regional dues to:

Religious/Spiritual Counseling Task Force Seeks
Input from Mental Health Community

Under the leadership of Chair, Ron Sharp, the Religious/Spiritual Counseling Task Force for the American Mental Health Counselors Association (AMHCA), is currently pursuing the study of mental well-being from a religious/spiritual perspective. In so doing, the Task Force seeks input from members of the Mental Health Community, regarding their thoughts and comments on the subject. In addition to an interest in learning of Counselors' beliefs, the Task Force is interested in learning areas of interest, current concerns, problems and issues, and suggested short- and long-term solutions.

Mr. Sharp also notes individuals' reading lists on the subject are welcome (preferably annotated). The Task Force will compile a complete reference list, which they will gladly distribute upon receipt of a stamped, selfaddressed envelope. Mr. Sharp extends the appreciation of the Task Force to those persons contributing.

Unauthorized Publication

It has been brought to the attention of Gloria Lane that someone was distributing a flyer at the Atlanta NASAP Convention advertising for sale a package consisting of a script and a raccoon puppet on the 4 Goals of Misbehavior entitled, "The Relationship of Reneé and Rehoboth Raccoon." This is the original work of Gloria Lane and she had not given permission to anyone to publish this manuscript. Ms. Lane asks that anyone who has copies of the script without the explicit permission of Gloria Lane or Renee Lane please return them immediately. Anyone who picked up a flyer on this package at the NASAP Convention in Atlanta, or who knows who is illegally distributing this manuscript, please send information to:

"Is It True What They Say About Adler's Individual Psychology?" Teaching of Psychology, (a publication of the American Psychological Association), vol. 11, No.3, October, 1984; Norman N Silverman & Raymond J. Corsini. This article is the product of an extensive research project. Drs. Silverman and Corsini discuss how Adlerian ideas are treated in introductory psychology textbooks. This work represents the study of 57 college texts published in the period of 1974-1982, evaluating entries in terms of twelve basic Adlerian propositions and four common misconceptions.

This four-volume reference set was written by 500 contributors and guided by 50 consulting associate and foreign editors. The major fields covered include applied, clinical, cognitive, developmental, educational, measurement, personality, psysiological, social and theoretical psychology.

Ray Corsini indicates this Encyclopedia gives Alfred Adler and Adlerians "much more space than other encyclopedias." According to Corsini, the following are Adlerians included in this publication:

Book Misrepresents Adler's Beliefs

The April, 1985 issue of the American Journal of Psychiatry, (142:4, p.517) contains a letter to the editor penned by Heinz Ansbacher in response to a review of Paul Stepansky's book, In Freud's Shadow: Adler in Context (Hillsdale, NJ, Analytic Press, 1983) by James Lieberman, which appeared in the Journal's December. 1984 issue. Ansbacher raises some interesting counterarguments to what he describes as "utterly absurd statements" by Stepansky. Ansbacher notes that Stepansky's book and Lieberman's review are both good, the former being "important, excellent and well-researched" up to the point where "Stepansky discusses Adler after his separation from Freud. At this point he turns Adler virtually upside down." Furthermore, Lieberman "uncritically accepts Stepansky's rendition of Adler."

Among Ansbacher's criticism of the Stepansky work is Stepansky's apparent "erroneous hypothesis that Adler's life development was from radical socialism to extreme conservatism," a hypothesis Stepansky seems to support by "forcing the data to fit" his own interpretation.

Following detailed point-by-point critism of the Stepansky book, Ansbacher concludes that "although Stepansky's book offers an excellent analysis of the Freud-Adler interaction, it is unacceptable as an account of Adler's thinking and his system of Individual Psychology." Ansbacher encourages NASAP members to take a closer look at the Stepansky book, the Lieberman review, and his own counter-arguments.

Adlerian Article Inspires Workshops in Ireland

An article by Polly de Sherbinin appearing in the October, 1984 Northern Ireland periodical, Lynx published by Extern, an organization committed to crime prevention and the development of community-based alternatives to custody and prison, inspired a recent series of Human Services Workshops led by Ms. de Sherbinin in Belfast. The workshops were similar to those offered in the United States through the Adlerian Counseling Center of Amherst (Massachusetts). Ms. de Sherbinin presented the workshops before an audience made up of staff members from Belfast residences for inmates entering the community after incarceration and for courtadjudicated persons. The workshops were designed to teach staff members skills toward assisting the inmates in taking an increased responsibility for their own actions.

Ms. de Sherbinin's article outlined Adlerian principles for fostering cooperation and responsibility. The application of such Adlerian principles were presented in the workshops. Ms. de Sherbinin reports that workshop participants, although not familiar with Adlerian Psychology, responded well.

Petaluma -- The 1985-86 year marks the 10 year anniversary of service to the North Bay Area for the Family Education Center (FEC). Also, as of July 1, the FEC of Petaluma merges with the Parent Education Center (PEC) of Rohnert Park. Under joint administration led by FEC Director: Lynn Lott, and PEC Director, Fran Bueler, the merged agencies plan to continue to deliver parenting classes with the goal of preventing child and spousal abuse, juvenile delinquency, and alcohol and drug abuse.

Michelle Mongini reports they are looking forward to the wonderful growth of new ideas and enthusiasm this hybridization will generate. To celebrate the merger and the 10 year anniversary, they are planning a wine tasting and music event at a nearby winery, as well as selling fireworks and a lottery calendar, now that the lottery has been legalized in California.

Opatija—The International Congress of Psychotherapy will be held in Opatija this coming autumn on October 6-12, 1985, reports Anna Sten. This conference is sponsored by the World Association for Social Psychiatry, and will feature a symposium, described as the conference's "most important" highlight by Dr. Sten, with prominent American doctors in attendance. The symposium is arranged by the World Association President, John Carleton. Dr. Sten will present a paper on "Inventive Therapy", as well as a second paper on children. Other papers will include a wide range of subjects within the field of Psychotherapeutic Therapy as presented by professionals from around the world.

Dr. Sten notes that of the many international conferences of such stature as this Congress in which she has participated, she has been the lone representative of Adlerian Psychology. Other Adlerians are encouraged to participate in this autumn's International Congress in Opatija.
