PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

My message in the last issue has created an unprecedented outpouring of support for NASAP, suggestions, and opportunities. In letters and phone calls, I have heard from well-known and "unknown" members. All were helpful, and I will share some of their concerns in next month's newsletter.

Newsletter increases frequency

With this issue, the NASAP Newsletter returns to 10 issues-per-year (with the July-August and November-December months combined). The increased frequency will allow for more timely and informative newsletters.

Seattle Convention

A survey of 1987 convention presenters indicated dissatisfaction with the 45 minute program length. The Delegate Assembly has created a new schedule for the Seattle Saturday/Sunday presentations:

- * "short" sessions are increased to 60 minutes
- * "long" sessions remain at 90 minutes
- * total number of programs remains at 80
- * Interest Section meetings have been moved to Saturday

These changes will improve the quality of the convention. Make plans for Seattle, May 27-30. Convention registration brochures will be sent in late January.

Conventions 1990-1992

Convention sites were selected, pending final approval from the host committees:

- * 1990 - Philadelphia
- * 1991 - Tucson
- * 1992 - Chicago

The Delegate Assembly approved a rotation of the convention through western, central and eastern portions of North America every three years.

Convention Survey - Presenters

All Fort Wayne presenters were asked to complete a survey. Their dissatisfaction with the 45 minute time-slot has prompted an increase to 60 minutes for the Seattle convention. Other interesting results from this survey:

* 1 in 3 presenters indicate they came to the convention in order to present

* 2 of 3 presenters indicate they plan to present in Seattle

* 86% of presenters would agree to videotaping of their presentations. (The D.A. has recommended some programs be videotaped in Seattle, and we are working to make this happen.)

* Presenters listed 31 other conventions at which they presented in the past year. They also indicated 68% of these conventions require presenters to register, similar to NASAP policy.

Convention Survey - Membership

More than 450 replies to the survey on conventions were received. Results presented to the D.A. meeting include:

* Memorial Day Weekend--19% indicated it was an advantage to attending the convention; 39% indicating it a disadvantage; and 37% neutral on this point.

* Reasons for attending NASAP conventions: Program (231 replies), philosophy (227), presenters (202), camaraderie (191), location (107).

* Compared to other conventions, 74% indicated our registration fees are average, 13% higher, and 13% lower than other events.

For a complete summary of the results, write the central office.

New Membership Brochure

Included in your 1988 renewal mailing were two copies of the new membership brochure. Our appreciation to Amy Lew and Rob and Jaime Greenebaum for their work on this project. Comments and suggestions are welcomed; order additional copies through the central office.

D.A. Meeting

At the recent Delegate Assembly meeting in Chicago, 80 presentations and 12 workshops were selected for the Seattle convention. A major portion of our weekend was spent discussing and prioritizing plans for new NASAP activities. It was a productive and encouraging weekend, and I will report to you on our progress in the next few months.

Our best wishes to you and your family as NASAP begins our 36th year!

Respectfully submitted,

Don C. Dinkmeyer, Jr., Ph.D.
President

NASAP NEWSLETTER DEADLINES

The Delegate Assembly has recommended that the number of issues of the newsletter be increased to ten (10) per year. The deadline remains the first of the month. Please make note of the deadlines and send your material accordingly. Thank you. -- Ed.

--OF GENERAL INTEREST--

IN MEMORIAM--Anna Sten

The New York Committee of NASAP, Region V regrets to announce that Anna Sten, Sc.D., died unexpectedly on November 13, 1987. She was a concentration camp survivor with no living relatives. Besides membership in NASAP, she was a fellow of the Royal Society for the Promotion of Health, a member of the N.Y. Academy of Science and the National Academy of TV Artists.

Anna was devoted to the Individual Psychology of Alfred Adler and his philosophy and was on the staff of the Alfred Adler Institute of New York. As an international lecturer of "Inventive Therapy" (her creation), she used her unique methods in her work with adults, children, the blind and the handicapped. Anna was a loyal devoted member of the N. Y. Committee. She was an unusual person and we shall miss her.

TRIBUTE--

I want to publicly thank Maurie Bullard for sending me a copy of the Adlerian Bibliography Number 1 by Mosak and Mosak. I have looked desperately for this publication in recent years and have had no luck. Maurie responded to my announcement in a past issue of this newsletter. My hunch is that Maurie does lots of things like this for Adlerians. Often small, behind-the-scenes activities like this go unnoticed, and I wanted to bring it to the membership's attention. This is the kind of thing that Maurie has been known for. This was referred to earlier in the June 1986 issue of Individual Psychology that featured Maurie and I urged readers to become more familiar with Maurie and his high level of social interest.

AWARD TO VIDEO DOCUMENTARY

The Alfred Adler Institute of Chicago reports that "Sadie 'Tee' Dreikurs: Partner in History," the video documentary made last year in cooperation with NASAP and private donors, has been awarded the Chicago International Film Festival's "Certificate of Merit for Illinois Filmmakers."

According to the award letter received from Michael J. Kutza, Jr., Founder/Director of the Film Festival, "This award is an achievement to be proud of. Every year, the number of Festival entries gets higher, and as a result, the competition gets stronger. And while the overall number of entries has increased, the ratio of winners to total number of entries continues to remain low." CONGRATULATIONS to Bryna Gamson and all who worked on the video!

MEDIA ROOM - NASAP '88

In an attempt to better serve our membership, we are considering providing time at our convention to review audio and video programs developed by members. Depending on the response, there will be either a time slot during the convention program or a media room all day Sunday at the Seattle convention in May, 1988.

The purpose for the Media Room is to give members an opportunity to familiarize themselves with what is available and to make more informed choices. Developers of the media programs will be invited to be present in order to answer questions. The purpose is not for sales, although the programs may be sold through the convention bookstore.

REPLY REQUESTEDREPLY REQUESTED

Members who have developed audio or video programs and who would like to participate in the Media Room program are asked to send information to NASAP, 202 S. State, #1212, Chicago 60604. no later than January 29, 1988.

QUALITY PARENTING, Linda Albert, Michael Popkin; Random House, Inc. 201 E. 50th St., New York, NY 10022, 208 pages, $17.95 (Canada $25.95).

This "how to" book goes straight to the heart of working-parent anxieties and shows parents what to do with their time when they don't have much time; what quality time is and how to achieve it. The authors describe nine "QP" factors that make a child's moments with a parent special; time-management strategies that make it easier to cope with hectic schedules; activities that foster feelings of closeness and sharing plus special tips for single-parent and stepparent homes.

CLASS MEETINGS VIDEO AVAILABLE

A 30-minute videotape, produced on location, demonstrates the step-by-step procedure for conducting class meetings. It was created so that in-service teachers and pre-service teacher trainees can learn the use of class meetings for resolving social problems that arise in the school/classroom setting. The philosophy behind class meetings was developed by Alfred Adler and Rudolf Dreikurs, who applied it to practical problems in schools.

Participating teachers/consultants for this video are Frank Meder, 5th grade teacher; John Platt, Educational Consultant; and Sharon Alexander, Professor in School of Education. Available on 3/4" or VHS videocassette, 29 min. color; purchase price $275; rental $35. Available from: University Media Services, CSU, Sacramento, 6000 J Street, Sacramento, CA 95819. Phone: 916/278-5763 purchase; 916/278-5760 rental.

NASAP '88--SEATTLE
36th Annual Convention and Workshops
May 27-30, 1988

HOTEL: The Stouffer Madison Hotel is the site for the 1988 NASAP Convention and Workshops. It is a lovely downtown property in the midst of Seattle activity and within walking distance of most of the major attractions of the central area. All rooms have a view of the city. The hotel has a small health club, lap pool, 2 restaurants, a roof top lounge and a relaxing lobby bar.

Rate: $69 single/double; $10 for each additional person

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES:

Sat., May 28 - SPIRIT OF SEATTLE-Dinner Cruise

Departing from a traditional banquet fare, our Saturday evening dinner will be hosted on the Spirit of Seattle, cruising the Seattle harbor. The waters are calm, the skyline spectacular and the food promises to be delightful. In addition to dinner (and hopefully a colorful sunset), a band will provide music for dancing while cruising the Sound. This 3-hour cruise will provide a special interlude for you to enjoy the beauty of the city and the delights of the Pacific Northwest.

Sun., May 29 - SPACE NEEDLE

As a special offering for those wanting to experience one of the very special attractions of Seattle, a "fun" dinner is planned at the world famous Space Needle. We will dine in the Puget Sound Room in the 100 ft. level of the Needle. A Seattle landmark since first opening for the 1962 World's Fair, the Space Needle towers to a height of over 550 feet above the city skyline. Following dinner and the spectacular views, we will have the opportunity to go the 520 ft. observation level, where Seattle will unfold in a 360 degree panorama.

Washington, D.C.--About one hundred Adlerians, thirty from the NASAP Region IV Fall Conference, gathered in the home of Nicholas Ionedes on Saturday, November 14, 1987, to honor Hal McAbee, a prominent Adlerian from Bowie, Maryland. Dr. Ionedes writes, "The Adlerians seconded my remarks that we were honoring a past president of NASAP; a Secretary of the International Association of Individual Psychology; an author; a therapist and the best administrator in the Adlerian movement, who trained more students in this country and abroad than anybody I know. The party was successful even without hard liquor and smoking!"

NEW YORK

New York--The N.Y. Committee of NASAP Region V held another of its social forums on December 13 with 80 people in attendance. The theme was "The Directions of Alfred Adler's Individual Psychology Fifty Years Later" and speakers included Alexandra Adler, who reported on her talk at the Interdisciplinary Symposium held in Vienna in October, Leo Rattner and Robert Sherman. It was a stimulating afternoon for friends of Adler and new acquaintances.

IDEA SHARING--

Sylvia Robbins reports that the social forum format is proving to be a successful one. They have been low cost, held outside of a hotel, saving the expense of room and food. This forum was held at the New York Society for Ethical Culture and the group was able to bring in their own food. They have a speaker and panel discussion followed by questions, discussion and refreshments and socializing.
